

Nixon Urges Unity

EN ROUTE WITH NIXON (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon Tuesday urged all America to put partisanship aside and stand united behind President Eisenhower while regimented Communists march lockstep through the United Nations.

The Republican presidential nominee went even further and proposed a political moratorium on talk of American weakness or division that would all but gag his Democratic rival, Sen. John F. Kennedy, on what Kennedy calls the central issue of the campaign.

And Nixon promised flatly to continue some sort of spying on Russia if he reaches the White House.

Pennsylvania, Michigan

That was while the vice president was driving to keep Pennsylvania, with its crucial 32 electoral votes, and Michigan, with 20, in the Republican camp in the November election.

Nixon talked of espionage methods and criticized Kennedy at a news conference in Scranton, Pa. Then he hopped off for a day of electioneering by plane and motorcade at Mount Clemens, Flint, Saginaw and Bay City, Mich.

Answering questions of newsmen, Nixon said the U2 spy plane flight over Russia was technically wrong according to standards of international conduct but legally and morally right and completely necessary in the light of the Soviet menace. He said he would not resume such flights as their usefulness has been compromised but added, "I want to make it very clear if I become president I will continue to try to get intelligence information in order to protect the United States."

Nixon flew into Michigan urging unbroken unity behind the President.

He sprung the proposal in remarks at political rallies at Mount Clemens and Flint.

One Strength, Unity

A great struggle, Nixon said, was never won by a lack of belief in one's own strength and unity of purpose or by a defeatist attitude. He said, "We know the regimented Communists will march lockstep through the United Nations, hanging desperately together to avoid hanging one another separately. There will be on their part no deviation."

The situation in the U.N., Nixon said, is gravely important to America and the cause for peace. He said it imposes upon the presidential and vice presidential candidates of both parties a special responsibility to conduct themselves with maturity and judgment in all that we say and do. Amplifying this with a moratorium proposal that Kennedy obviously would find unacceptable in its entirety, Nixon put what he had in mind into a one long sentence.

"We have responsibility in avoiding resort to statements which tend to divide America, and which tend to disparage America, and which in any way would encourage Chairman Khrushchev and his fellow dictators to believe that this nation, the leader of the free world, is weak of will, is indecisive and is unsure of itself and is unable to use her vast power; is poorly defended, is held at bay by imperialistic communism, is divided in opinion on world affairs, believing that the majority of mankind holds her in disdain," he said.

Wishes Castro Remained Home

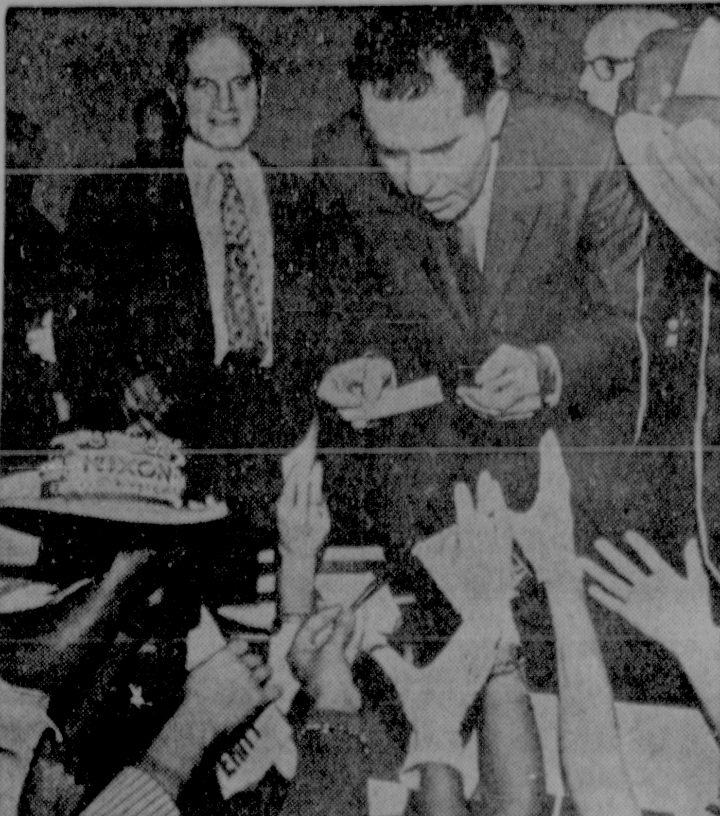

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP)—Fidel Castro almost caused a rural home near here to burn Tuesday.

Mrs. Ersie Allen said she became so enraged while Americans or television greeting Castro in a friendly manner that she forgot she had put bacon on the stove.

The bacon burned, ignited the grease which blazed up and set fire to a kitchen cabinet.

Mrs. Allen smothered the fire with her towels.

Said she: "I wish he'd stayed in Cuba where he belongs."

Kennedy Calls For Sacrifices

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy told the nation Tuesday night it must expect sacrifices to preserve U.S. world leadership against the efforts of Communist enemies seeking to undermine the peace.

"There is very little time," the Democratic presidential nominee said, "The enemy is lean and hungry—and we are the only sentinel at the gate."

In his first nationwide television speech of the campaign, with his immediate audience the diners at a $100-a-plate Democratic dinner, Kennedy said the nation needs to mobilize under new leadership.

Addresses Khrushchev

The Massachusetts senator addressed some of his remarks to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, now in New York heading the Soviet delegation to the United Nations General Assembly.

"How can you talk of peace, Mr. Khrushchev," he asked, "when you and your Chinese Communist friends are undermining the peace of the world every day—creating danger and disorder wherever you can?"

"And how can you talk of the achievements of your system, even if you beat us again by putting a man in space—for the world knows that you may some day bring a man back alive from orbit, but you rarely bring one back alive from Siberia."

Stressing anew the dominant theme of his campaign—that Republican apathy and neglect are costing this country its leadership and world prestige, Kennedy told Americans watching on 180 TV stations:

"In times such as these, I say it is wrong—and dangerous—for any American to keep silent about our future if he is not satisfied with what is being done to preserve that future."

"And I am not satisfied when our President can be insulted by a dictator in Paris or by a mob in Tokyo."

"I am not satisfied to be second to outer space, or second to the moon."

"I have heard all the excuses—but I believe, not in an America that is first but, or first if, or first when—but an America that is first, period."

Kennedy said the time has come for this country to let Khrushchev know that "a new generation is taking over in America—a generation that did not fight for world freedom at Anzio and the Solomon Islands to see it drift away."

Russia Suffers New U.N. Setback; Acts To Win Support Of Neutrals

Mobutu Puts Bomboko In Top Office

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Col. Joseph Mobutu set up a Congolese technical commission Tuesday to supersede both the ousted regime of Communist-supported Premier Patrice Lumumba and the shadow government of Premier-designate Joseph Ileo.

Mobutu, pushing efforts to "neutralize" both Lumumba and President Joseph Kasavubu, said the commission will operate the government until Jan. 1. Its head is Justin Bomboko, currently serving as Kasavubu's chief delegate at the United Nations in New York. He was Lumumba's foreign minister, but later supported Kasavubu.

The commission issued a proclamation threatening expulsion of any foreign newsman sending out "the contradictory communications of the rival parties."

Lumumba A Traitor

It accused Lumumba of treason and described Col. Mobutu as "the man who has delivered us from Communist colonialism and from Marxist-Leninist imperialism in the true higher interests of the country."

The commission said it "is alone authorized to conduct the general policy of the country, to assure respect for legality and to represent the Congo Republic abroad."

Mobutu's soldiers underlined the assertion by evicting Lumumba appointees still entrenched in administrative offices. Mobutu said commission specialists will run the various ministries.

Congo ministries have been inoperative since Kasavubu two weeks ago fired Lumumba as premier and named Ileo to replace him. Lumumba ignored the president's action and as a result, both his regime and Ileo's administration have remained nominally in control. Only technical work has been going on under the direction of U. N. experts.

An Ileo spokesman said Ileo did not take over control of the government because he hoped to reach a settlement with the Lumumba faction and appoint the deposed premier to a subordinate ministerial post.

Spurns Offer

Lumumba scornfully rejected the offer and insisted at a news conference he still is legal premier.

Lumumba said he has sent a letter to U. N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold asserting that the alleged agreement confirmed him as premier and "practically put an end to the Congolese crisis."

$1.5 Million More To Protect Reds

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The city estimated Tuesday that it will spend an additional $1.5 million a week providing police protection for the Communist delegates to the United Nations.

This led the City Council to approve unanimously a resolution asking the federal government to reimburse the city for the extra expense.

Firecrackers, Eggs Hurlled At Police

Street Riots Occur Outside U.N.

NEW YORK (AP)—Riotous battles between club-swinging police and keyed up demonstrators swirled about the city as the United Nations General Assembly opened Tuesday.

In one three-hour-long melee outside the United Nations building in the afternoon, mounted police charged the demonstrators, many of whom were thrown to the ground.

After a few hours of more or less peaceful, though noisy, demonstrations against Soviet Premier Khrushchev and other visiting government leaders, another riot flared near the Soviet U.N. headquarters building uptown Tuesday night.

Demonstrators threw firecrackers and eggs at policemen and their horses. Fists and nightsticks were swung as jeering, booing pickets tangled with scores of police trying to keep them at a safe distance from the Soviet building.

Khrush Goes To Harlem For Talks With Castro

NEW YORK (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev made a dramatic foray into the heart of Harlem Tuesday, to pay his respects to Cuba's bearded Prime Minister Fidel Castro. It was the first known meeting between the two.

It held a potential of high significance, this conference between the leader of world communism and the revolutionary hero of Cuba, who is regarded as increasingly edging into Moscow's sphere.

Khrushchev was said to have asked for the meeting. It lasted for 40 minutes at the Hotel Theresa, where Castro moved Monday night after a public tantrum over midtown hotel accommodations.

Interpreters worked back and forth between the stocky Russian and the muscular Cuban, who towered over his guest.

The Soviet premier essayed a couple of nonpolitical quips that set Castro to laughing.

An estimated 5,000 persons screamed and shouted approval as the pair emerged from the hotel onto the sidewalks of blocked-off Seventh Avenue.

"I was very much pleased with the conversation I had with Dr. Castro," Khrushchev said after his return to the Soviet's United Nations headquarters on Park Avenue.

Meanwhile, more foreign diplomats and chiefs of state—Communist and otherwise—poured into Manhattan, drawn here by a fateful session of the United Nations, which got under way Tuesday afternoon.

Late arrivals included President Tito of Yugoslavia. He smiled broadly and waved his hands to about 100 sympathizers as he disembarked from the liner Queen Elizabeth. Longshoremen on the pier, however, booed him lustily.

Also aboard the Queen Elizabeth was Gen. Mehmet Shehu, premier of Albania and a bitter foe of Tito.

Some 500 New York City policemen guarded the pier for the arrival of Tito and Shehu—a force second only to that monitoring Khrushchev's arrival at an East River pier aboard the Soviet liner Baltika Monday.

Security continued to be a gravely vexing problem. Khrushchev told State Department he resented police handling of his party in his Harlem visit to Castro. Police Inspector James J. Weldon said much of the confusion was caused by the surprise nature of Khrushchev's visit and added:

"There was plenty of shoving. I don't know of any specific incident. There was nothing willful."

Mayor Robert F. Wagner defended his police force against Khrushchev's complaints. He said the policemen were responding "to the emergency caused by the presence here of so many foreign officials who have to be guarded because of the enemies they have made."

8,000 Police

Some 8,000 New York police are deployed throughout Manhattan to insure the safety of the visitors, many of them bitterly hated by foreign-born segments of the city's population.

Near rioting broke out Monday night outside Khrushchev's residence on Park Avenue at 68th Street and again Tuesday outside U.N. headquarters.

Strict security was one of the complaints Castro carried to United Nations Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold Monday night.

Police went right ahead with their tight security precautions, however, setting up a five-block no man's land in front of U.N. headquarters to keep demonstrators away from the entrance. The public was barred from the General Assembly sessions.

Free World Choice Named As President

United Nations, N.Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union suffered a new setback in the United Nations Tuesday, but immediately laid down the battle line it will pursue in a momentous 15th Session of the General Assembly.

With the most spectacular diplomatic gathering of its history on hand, the assembly defeated the Soviet candidate for president for this session.

But Nikita Khrushchev's forces indicated clearly they were ready to do battle for the good will of the uncommitted, emerging world of former colonial peoples. The opening Soviet statement made this clear and a United States statement indicated that the challenge would be accepted.

Warned of Task Ahead

The session's opening, keyed to a warning from the new president, Frederick H. Boland of Ireland, that the assembly faced a severe test of its ability to preserve civilization, capped a remarkable day in the history of diplomacy.

Khrushchev added his own unique touch by taking off suddenly, a few hours before the assembly opening, on a jaunt to Harlem, New York's Negro district, for a 40-minute conference with the bearded Cuban revolutionary leader, excoined there in a hotel.

An atmosphere of tension pervaded the hall as the delegates began voting for their new president. As Khrushchev and a train of Communist satellite chiefs looked on, Boland was elected over the Soviet candidate, Jiri Nosek of Czechoslovakia. The vote was Boland, 46; Nosek 25, and Thor Thors of Iceland, nine.

Khrushchev passed up an opportunity to beat President Eisenhower to the assembly rostrum. As chief delegate, he could have made an opening statement, but he turned that chore over to Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko. Eisenhower speaks Thursday, and Khrushchev's main policy speech is scheduled Friday.

Welcomed By Delegates

Gromyko keynoted the Soviet attack. He welcomed the admission of 14 new nations—13 from Africa, the other the republic of Cyprus—to U.N. membership. But by implication he condemned the West for allegedly continuing economic domination of former colonial areas. He demanded that such areas attain "real independence."

U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, speaking a few minutes later, also hailed the new members. He also welcomed, as a severe test, successfully passed, the U.N. action aimed at restoring order in Africa's turbulent Congo. Overwhelming assembly support for that action in a special session ended just after midnight Tuesday morning constituted a jolting setback for Soviet diplomacy in Africa.

The assembly quickly increased U.N. membership from 82 to 96 by unanimously voting in 13 new African states and the new Republic of Cyprus.

Immediately after the vote for president, Boland was called to the president's chair, to the applause of the delegates. Khrushchev conspicuously abstained from the applause. Cuba's premier, Fidel Castro, clapped a few times apathetically.

Collective Effort

The challenge before the U.N. said Boland, is to demonstrate through collective effort mankind "is gaining control of its own destiny" rather than permitting "blind force to decide the fate of the world." The U.N. progress to date has raised mankind's hopes, he said.

"Because of recent events, these high hopes are now to be severely tested," Boland continued. "Every delegation here present, no matter what its frame of reference, can help the assembly to meet that trial."

But despite the solemnity of the occasion, the hint of circus atmosphere also hung on.

Tax Rebate Due 10,000 Auto Buyers

HARRISBURG (AP)—The State Revenue Department estimated Tuesday some 10,000 to 15,000 Pennsylvania auto owners are eligible for part of $250,000 in sales tax rebates because of a Dauphin County Court ruling.

The court ruled that part of the state's 4 per cent sales and use tax covering out-of-state auto trade-ins on cars purchased was unconstitutional.

Under the original law an owner had to pay the sales tax on the full purchase price of a car if it was purchased out-of-state, regardless of the value of any trade-in.

At the same time the sales tax was paid on car purchases inside the state only on the net amount after the value of the trade-in was deducted.

No Appeal

The Dauphin Court ruled the provision was discriminatory. The state took no appeal.

However, between 1956 and the court ruling an estimated 10,000 to 15,000 Pennsylvania motorists bought new cars outside of Pennsylvania, using their own car as trade-in. They paid the sales tax on the full price of their purchase, receiving no tax credit for their trade-in.

So far the department has received 300 claims for rebates, averaging $60 each.

A department spokesman said the average rebate per car was expected to drop, while hundreds of other motorists will be unable to get a rebate because of inadequate records, moves out of the state and other reasons.

The department said it would process only those claims which meet its requirements.

Nationwide Signal Supply Conference Opens At Depot

A FOUR-DAY nationwide U.S. Army Signal Supply Conference opened yesterday at the Tobyhanna Signal Depot. On hand were more than 100 officers and civilians, representing 32 major Signal Corps installations in the United States, including Alaska and the Panama Canal Zone.

Tobyhanna Signal Depot Commander Col. Lester W. Kale welcomed the guests and expressed regret at the rainy weather. "I make no apologies, however," he said. "We usually have very fine weather in the Poconos."

Opening remarks were made by Maj. Gen. Herbert L. Scofield, chief of the Procurement and Distribution Division in the Office of the Chief Signal Officer in Washington. He introduced the honored guest of the conference, Brig. Gen. Alfred M. Shearer, now retired.

Speakers included General Scofield described General Shearer as "the man most responsible for the Tobyhanna Signal Depot." General Shearer, a former Signal Corps officer, announced plans for the Tobyhanna depot at a press conference in Scranton, Jan. 18, 1951.

Speakers yesterday included Colonel Kale, who discussed the training program at the depot. He reported that last year the depot had played host to officers and enlisted men from 30 Allied nations. "They ranged from sergeants to lieutenant generals," he said.

Another Depot speaker was Glenn Grubbs, assistant to the commander. His subject was "The Economic Inventory Policy as Applied to the Management of Decentralized Items."

A reception for the conferees was held at the Officer's Club in the evening.

Tonight, following another full day of talks and panel discussions, the group will be entertained with a reception, dinner and show at Pocono Manor.

The one-hour show will be put on by Sally Ferrebee, Tom Waring and the Pocono Community Chorus.

of Allentown, Bethlehem, Hazleton, Easton, Wilkes-Barre, Scranton and the Pocono Mts. territory.

The association is holding its 40th annual state realtor convention at Pittsburgh's Hilton Hotel. The convention began on Sunday, Sept. 18 and will wind up today.

Others selected to head the group were J. Carroll Molloy, Jr., of Doylestown, president; Charles B. Patt, Jr., of Allentown, secretary; and H. C. Wolbert, of Harrisburg was re-elected treasurer. Smith succeeded Patt in the post.

Former mayor Donald Hock, of Allentown, delivered the main address to the association yesterday, which is believed to be the largest state realtors convention ever held. Fifty-one realtor boards, comprising the eight districts in the state, were in attendance.

Monroe Food Costs Stable In Quarter

Record Harrisburg Bureau
HARRISBURG—Overall cost of food in the Monroe County area remained stable during the past quarter, the State Department of Labor and Industry said yesterday.

This is in contrast to the statewide average which showed an upswing of 0.8 per cent during the quarter.

Commenting on the statewide increase in the food index the department noted that food cost increases recorded for Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Reading resulted in a "population weighted contribution to the statewide average which overshadowed price decreases in other cities."

Sample Items

The following represent some of the sample food items for the area indicating average cost during the past quarter, with the statewide average in parentheses:

Round steak, $1.16 per pound ($1.02); rib roast, 78c per pound (70c); frankfurters, 66c per pound (63c); hamburger, 51c per pound (61c); veal cutlets, $1.63 per pound ($1.44); sliced bacon, 73c per pound (68c); leg of lamb, 74c per pound (79c); frying chickens, 44c per pound (44c); frozen fillet of haddock, 57c per pound (53c).

Butter, 73c per pound (73c); frozen green peas, 19c per ten ounce package (20c); lemons, 13c per pound (15c); potatoes, 69c per ten pounds (63c); coffee, 69c per pound (70c); shortening, 78c per three pounds (70c); and sugar, 58c per five pounds (58c).

Trespassing Charges Against Two

TRESPASSING charges against two persons in connection with the Stroudsburg-East Stroudsburg flood control project were heard by Justice of the Peace John C. F. Foelker of Stroudsburg.

Foelker dismissed the charge against Marshall E. Morrow of 137 Pleasant Dr., Warren, in charge of the project for the Elmhurst Contracting Co., and continued the case against James J. Smith of Gilbert, as equipment operator.

The two were arrested by Constable G. Walter Counterman on charges preferred by A. M. Price of East Stroudsburg.

Price is seeking through Monroe County Court to prevent construction of flood control dikes on his property in East Stroudsburg.

PUC Okays DVT Service To Philly

DELAWARE Valley Transportation Co. announced yesterday it will inaugurate bus service from Canadensis to Philadelphia by way of Stroudsburg and Allentown on Oct. 7.

Permission for the new service, designed to serve resorts in the Barrett Township area, was granted by the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission.

To be known as the Pocono Mountain Express, the buses will travel Route 90 from Canadensis to Stroudsburg, Route 209 to the Mahoning Exit, Pennsylvania turnpike to the Schuylkill Expressway, then to Philadelphia.

Lester Drake, president of DVT, said the runs will be coordinated to permit connection at Stroudsburg for New York-bound Greyhound buses.

The company was recently granted permission to operate buses between Port Jervis, N.Y., and Philadelphia.

The new schedule will include, at its start, two round trips daily, leaving Canadensis at approximately 8 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Land Fill Phases Aired

OFFICIALS of the Boroughs of Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg and the Townships of Hamilton, Middle Smithfield and Stroud met in the municipal building in East Stroudsburg to discuss various phases of sanitary land fill.

Harold Snyder, Sterling Cramer and Edward Hess were appointed as a committee to study the various costs involved in the setting up and operating the land fill.

The committee will make its report at the next meeting. The meeting was the result of the recent land fill demonstration and the necessity for a new method to dispose of the refuse as a result of legislation passed several years ago, outlawing open dumps.

Dorm Dedicated

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP)—Pennsylvania State University Tuesday dedicated a new dormitory in honor of Mercer County, C. D. Wyand, vice president for development, said the organization of living units is one way the university is able to give attention to individual students.

The new unit will house 66 male students. The dedication is part of a university program to name dormitories in honor of counties. Lawrence J. Wilhelm, chairman of the Mercer County commissioners, expressed appreciation on behalf of the county for the dormitory dedication.

The cafeteria in the Pleasant Valley High School will not open until a later date, the principal said.

E. Burg Gets $16,714

State To Reimburse 4 Area School Districts $26,048

MORE THAN $26,000 will be reimbursed to four school districts in Monroe County, the Department of Public Instruction has announced.

East Stroudsburg School District will receive slightly over $16,000 as their share with three other districts sharing in the remaining amount. The reimbursements are for newly-constructed projects in the district, the department reported.

In a report to John C. Litts, Superintendent of Monroe County Public Schools, stated that the 1959-60 rental subsidy will be paid in the near future to four school districts because of projects financed through a Municipal Authority.

List Includes

The list included these districts and amounts: East Stroudsburg School District, Project No. 049, $14,697.64 and Project No. 014, for $2,016.91.

Project No. 049 is the new junior-senior high school construction. No. 014 is the additions to elementary schools in Smithfield and Middle Smithfield Townships.

Others are Middle Smithfield Township $2,676.44 and $367.28 for a total of $3,043.72; Price Township School District $540.89 and $74.22 for total of $615.11; and Smithfield Township School District, $4,990.75 and $694.86 for a total of $5,685.61.

Children's Art Show At Center

THIS WEEK and next, there will be a children's art show open to the public between the hours of 2 and 4 p.m. at the Pocono Art Center Gallery, located on the top floor above the J. C. Penney Store.

The paintings were made by those children who attended the summer session of the children's art class of the Pocono Art Center, taught by Helen Kollmeyer, who in private life, is Mrs. Max Herzberg.

Each child was awarded a gold star, and a small prize for her own best painting. Ranging in ages from 6 to 13, the children exhibiting will be Jennie, Mary Ellen and Barbara Shook, Janet Hummel, Corinne Pansy,

Support Of Concerts

Every year, for the past two decades, a series of outstanding concerts has been presented here by some of the world's finest artists.

Credit for bringing the best in musical entertainment to our midst and for the growing popularity of the concerts goes to the Pocono Community Concert Assn., a non-profit group of local area citizens.

At present, the association is conducting its 21st annual membership campaign. It has set a goal of $4,000 which it hopes to raise by Saturday noon.

The concert group deserves the support of citizens from all parts of the Poconos in sponsoring the annual concert series. And the more support it receives, the more outstanding will be the concerts it will arrange at the close of the campaign.

A goal of $4,000 in memberships does not seem too ambitious for a commu-ity such as ours since it is more inclined toward music of all types than the vast majority of cities and towns.

Music is recognized as a human necessity rather than a luxury or matter of mere entertainment. Man has always turned to music in the most important hours of his existence. It would be difficult to find a leader among men who has not publicly recognized the importance of great music to mankind.

Such music must be maintained by public-spirited citizens. For 20 years, the responsibility for bringing good music to the area has been ably handled by the Pocono Community Concert Assn. It now solicits—and merits—the fullest cooperation of the local citizenry as it launches its 21st season.

A call to Carroll R. All, president; Mrs. Ann George, campaign chairman, or any other association officer will help assure continuance of the fine concerts as well as bring great joy to you as a concert-goer.

Opinions Of Other Editors

Some Reasons For Voting

No one, we suppose, is surprised that President George Meany of the A.F.L.-C.I.O. thinks labor has "got to get into this campaign with both feet and in favor of one ticket." But we were a little surprised at some of the reasons he gave publicly why union voters should jump on Mr. Nixon with both feet.

Naturally, his reasons include the general one that the "Democratic platform is vastly superior on the issue of labor policy" than the Republican party's. But who would have thought that at this late date labor voters would be impressed by attacks on the "harsh burdens" and "iniquities" of the Taft-Hartley Act, or be aroused by the Democrats' promise to repeal it?

And we would have expected Mr. Meany to be a little more subtle than just to tell union members that one reason for voting Democratic is that "on direct labor issues Kennedy's record has been 100% right," leaving the impression that anything less than 100% agreement on labor issues makes a Presidential candidate "wrong."

But what really interests us is the fact that, in his recent St. Louis speech, Mr. Meany makes no bones of the fact that the A.F.L.-C.I.O.'s general board lays down criteria for Presidents on almost every public issue. It's not just Mr. Nixon's record on labor questions that brings down labor's wrath.

Among the brickbats Mr. Meany heaves at the Republican candidate are "his blind faith" in private enterprise, that in foreign affairs "he has gone right down the line with the present administration," and that "on almost every social and economic issue" he has voted on the side the A.F.L.-C.I.O. disagrees with.

However, says Mr. Meany, with a "sympathetic President in the White House" the programs for the country envisioned by labor's leaders on housing, education, health, agriculture, defense, foreign policy, labor policy and what-all will have a better chance. "I am completely confident," he assures everybody, "that John F. Kennedy, when he is elected President, will help us win them."

It's quite a frank statement, and maybe it will give a lot of people some reasons for voting.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Conservative Viewpoint

There are two ways of fighting for an ideal: one is to be inside a group; the other way is to be outside looking in.

The conservative in the Republican Party were the prevailing element in the Harding, Coolidge and Hoover Administrations.

During the Roosevelt Administration, the Republican Party became the possession of the managerial elements in Business who are neither conservatives nor liberals but who want to win an election on the incorrect assumption that those who help to elect a President can control him after he is elected.

They nominated Alf Landon, Wendell Willkie, Thomas E. Dewey and Dwight D. Eisenhower. They rejected Robert A. Taft.

The rank and file of the Republican Party is essentially conservative but not sufficiently so to leave the party for membership in some other party.

Although in the Willkie and Dewey elections too many Republicans failed to vote, the conservatives nevertheless did not organize a party of their own. Such a group did come out of the Southern Democrats but it did not do so far.

The subject has often been discussed but nothing substantial has ever come of it because it is difficult for Republican conservatives to agree on a program. There are too many sects, cults, and groups among them. The conservative economists, for instance, will not associate with conservative crackpots.

The first Republican conservative of political magnitude to appear since the death of Robert A. Taft is Senator Barry Goldwater, a man of most unusual experience for a politician and whose mind has a philosophical cast.

Even though Senator Goldwater's ideas often run against the current tide, he is a practical man in the sense that he recognizes that to accomplish anything politically, it is essential to be in the place at the time when accomplishment is possible. Yelling on the outside may be lots of fun but it does not affect anything politically.

In a two party system country, the practical politician makes his way within a party. In the Republican Party, Senator Goldwater is a very influential man with a following large enough at the convention to have been important.

Many conservatives have been critical of Senator Goldwater for supporting Vice President Richard Nixon at the Republican Convention. Their argument is a non-political one, namely that Goldwater might have been nominated for the Presidency.

Dan Smoot, a radio broadcaster who also issues a newsletter and who has a considerable following among conservatives, particularly is annoyed with Senator Goldwater. Smoot says:

"If . . . Goldwater had fought the Republican blueprint for socialism by demanding roll-call votes on the floor, he would have gained such strength by the time his name was placed in nomination that he very probably would have won. At the very least, he could have made a most impressive showing for the conservative cause.

"As he handled it (far from winning great respect for the conservative cause, as is widely claimed) Goldwater convinced the nation that conservatives have little strength, and no courage or leadership to use what they have."

The latter judgment would undoubtedly be correct. While the rank and file of the Republican Party and probably of this nation is conservative, there is no national conservative organization equivalent to the A.D.A.; there is no conservative program which a sufficient number of persons would accept; there are too many conservatives devoted to side issues which frighten away genuine, philosophic conservatives, and there are too many who while they say that they are conservatives cannot define the term.

The only conservative magazine of any stature in the country, "National Review," has a small circulation. A conservative newsletter comes out of Washington entitled "Human Events."

Senator Barry Goldwater's leadership could build a segment of practical conservatives who are politically oriented and who do not devote themselves to crackpot diversions.

By any definition of terms, the Nixon-Lodge ticket represents a more conservative outlook on the American trend than the Kennedy-Johnson ticket does, although by 1962, if the movement of gold from the United States continues, whoever is President will meet the same challenge and may be forced to make the same decisions.

It is used to be that the universities taught a subject called Political Economy which was an excellent term for our major problem. It is impossible to separate politics from economics. There are many who call themselves conservatives and shirk against socialism but who favor many inflationary measures which must lead to socialism.

Teenage Terror

Acne is a teenage terror. If your boy studies the geometry of his face each morning before he picks up his algebra book and trudges off to school, he's frightened. He is certain those pimples mean acne.

Those magical years, when gland secretions (sex hormones) shape girls into women and thrust boys into manhood, are often marred by apprehension and embarrassment. Intensified by their own flesh, teenagers panic, and magnify the slightest physical flaw into a giant signpost pointing towards mutilated maturity. One common worry centers in the pimples and acne which attend every adolescence.

Agonies Triggered
Those same sex hormones which bury childhood forever trigger the agonies of acne. Although the rash plagues both boys and girls, the male shoulders most of the blame.

In the hormone world, male blends into female. That chemical which readies the womb for pregnancy can rapidly reshape any infant guinea pig into a bull-like miniature; also, every female is loaded with male hormones manufactured by the adrenal glands up near the stomach.

Acne explodes when hormone-triggered changes zero in on the skin's oil-secreting glands. At first, these glands shift into high gear, pouring ounce after ounce of wax-like oil through tiny skin pores. At the same time, rapidly growing layers of skin bulge into the oily outlets, damming back the waxy secretion.

The stagnant oil rapidly hardens into solid wax which completely clogs the gland openings. You can see these white waxy plugs on the face of any teenager. You call them whiteheads.

Then Come Blackheads
Unaware that the final product is no longer rolling off the glandular assembly line, oil-secreting cells continue to work overtime. Dust and dirt seep into whiteheads, while beneath the skin each clogged gland balloons out under pressure. Soon whiteheads darken into blackheads.

High-pressure glands set the stage for infection in which dust-carried germs play a leading role. Red, raw inflammation soon spotlights these bulging glands, as pimples, abscesses and pus-laden cysts sweep across formerly bluish-free face, head and shoulders.

No one can explain why some teenagers escape with only a few tiny pimples while others wind up with wide areas of boils and cysts.

Perhaps violent acne stems from touchy skin which breaks out at the drop of a hormone. Or maybe common household chemicals irritate the skin. Sometimes the pores are stopped up with make-up, especially the pancake kind.

As usual, when doctors don't know the whole answer, they talk vaguely about foods, drugs, regularity and the good life. (Teenagers can testify that these factors are often world-shattering — in the teenage world.)

Needn't Worry
Whatever the cause, acne is no cause for worry. Early treatment can control most cases and cure others. Today, even the worst scars of acne can often be smoothed out by dermabrasion — a medical sanding device which grinds down scars to a smooth complexion.

Acne stretches far beyond the teenage years. Babies have been born with it; women sometimes start fighting off these blemishes after the change of life. Here again, sex hormones trigger the eruption.

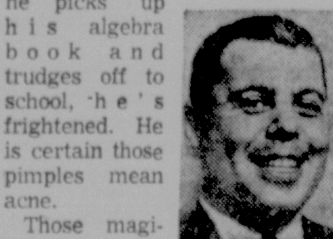

Routine Process
Female hormones, no different from the adolescent's, flow through the arteries and veins of every newborn. Even males feel these feminine chemicals pulsing through their system. As female hormones seep across from mother to baby shortly before birth, acne's whiteheads, blackheads and red infections may begin punctuating the baby's smooth face.

The change of life throws the entire hormone balance out of whack. Hot flashes, occasional whisks, as well as acne, all stem from this elderly glandular confusion.

The baby's skin clears. The older woman takes these skin blemishes in stride. Calmness reigns with true maturity. Only the teenager dies a slow death when faced with acne.

To him, medical action speaks louder than reassuring words. He may need lots and lots of both. For, respecting his elders, the unsophisticated youth rarely questions those old wives' tales which link acne to all sorts of illicit sex experience.

You can reassure your teenager, while the family doctor or local skin specialist clears the skin with the latest prescriptions and potions. This combined offensive along both medical and home fronts should wipe out the acne enemy before scars develop — either on the skin or in the mind!

Off The Record

By Robert Clark, City Editor

It seems odd that the Philadelphia Presbytery would come into Lehigh Presbytery territory and set up a camp for young people.

Well that's what happened and with the wholehearted support of the Lehigh group, Philadelphia Presbytery is now in the movement of developing Kirkwood, a 180-acre layout just off Route 611, a few miles north of Stroudsburg.

The site of the Philadelphia Presbytery camp is the former Carl Kohl property which has been a picturesque landmark for many years in Monroe County.

Kirkwood is the second such venture into the camp field by the Philadelphia Presbytery which constantly searches for room for their young folks during the summer months.

With the addition of the Kirkwood, Monroe has two such Presbyterian camps going. The other is the Brainerd's, Lehigh Presbytery camp, just off the highway at Snyder'sville.

The invasion of Philadelphia into the territory only goes to show that organizations within an organization can and do work hand and hand.

The other evening members of Philadelphia and Lehigh Presbyteries had an informal gathering. What came from the session was wholehearted support on both sides — dedicating themselves to each other.

This is just one way the Poconos blends its beauty into a lasting friendship.

Perhaps the "merger" of Philadelphia and Lehigh (Kirkwood and Brainerd) will stimulate a movement that in the 21st century the Poconos will be self-tagged the Mountain Quaker City.

Worse far-fetched ideas have become a reality.

Veteran's Guide

Q—I am 22, the son of a World War II veteran who died of a service-connected condition, and am now in the Armed Forces myself. I'd like to go to school under the War Orphans Education program when I get out, but then I will be more than 23 years old. Can an exception to the age limitations for eligibility be made in my case?

A—Yes, War Orphans Education may be continued after age 23, if you were serving in the Armed Forces before that age. You must complete your schooling within five years from discharge. Your discharge must be under conditions other than dishonorable.

Q—A while ago there used to be a rule that VA benefits checks could not be forwarded, but I understand that's changed now. Can the Post Office forward my compensation check to me, at another address?

A—Yes. It is perfectly legal to forward VA benefits checks. Fill out a change-of-address form with your local Post Office. Also, tell VA that you are moving. Give your old address, and your new address.

Reports From Congress

Big State Gains Seen

By Congressional Quarterly
Washington — Many states appear destined for a big cash "windfall" when the new medical care for the aged program goes into effect Oct. 1.

President Eisenhower signed the program into law Sept. 13, reportedly with misgivings.

The new program, passed by Congress in August, makes direct grants to the states, in the tradition of grant-aid programs designed to stimulate and equalize state efforts in various welfare fields.

However, these are some of the predicted results of the program during its first year of operation, based on a Congressional Quarterly study of estimates released by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Although the Federal Government is expected to put up $202 million in the first year of the program, 41 states stand to receive a total of $122 million of this money without putting up any new money of their own. These states are expected to move swiftly to take advantage of the program. Some will need to make technical changes in state laws.

At least $72 million of the new federal money will replace state funds now being spent for medical care for the needy aged under existing welfare programs, thus "releasing" or "freeing" this money for use in any way the states see fit. It is hoped that the 25 states eligible to receive the "free money" will use it to implement a new program provided by the bill to give assistance to the aged who are "medically needy" but not on welfare programs. However, about $38 million of the free money, concentrated in 15 states, is not expected to be used for the medically needy program according to the HEW figures.

HEW expects a number of states to put up new money — about $25 million according to the HEW calculations — but since $38 million appears likely to be taken out in free money by other states, the net result is that the states as a whole may spend $12 million less for aged medical care programs in the first year of the program than they are spending at the present time.

HEW made the free money figures available Sept. 14 after a CQ news story pointed to their existence and reported that the Department was refusing to give them out. They were not made public during Congressional debate and adoption of the program.

One Louisiana political leader says his state couldn't use all its free money for aged medical care "unless we give the old people air conditioned private hospital suites where they don't have anybody to talk to." He predicted the state would divert at least $4 million into other areas, such as highways, schools or budget reduction.

As signed into law, the new program runs counter to principles stated with feeling by President Eisenhower on several occasions. For one thing, it provides federal matching of state funds on a more lavish and disproportionate scale than any other federal-state welfare measure within memory.

The wealthier states continue to get matched $1 for $1, but the poorer states will get their funds matched up to $4 to $1. As recently as January, in his budget message the President said the states should be encouraged to finance a larger share of programs from their own revenues, as a means to "strengthen our system of Government."

A case also might be made that the bill provides a more direct form of "socialized medicine" — something that is anathema to the President — than any of the various 1960 Democratic proposals — tying medical care to the Social Security insurance system — which the President heatedly opposed because of their "compulsory" and "socialistic" overtones.

According to responsible Capitol Hill sources, the President's initial reaction was to veto the new law when its workings were outlined to him by Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Arthur S. Flemming. This might have been awkward to do, for several reasons:

A veto might have had unfavorable repercussions for Republicans in the 1960 political campaign. It also would have killed a number of unrelated Social Security provisions included in the bill.

Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D Okla.), who introduced the measure in the Senate Finance Committee, had taken pains to "clear" it with several key members of the Eisenhower cabinet. Kerr's state gets $8,699,000 in free money under the bill — a handsome prize to take to his electorate in November.

The bill had strong support from Southern Democrats, who joined with Republicans in defeating the Social Security health plan pushed by Democratic nominee John F. Kennedy. The southerners are threatened greatly in the matching provisions.

Of course, as with all federal programs, somebody has to pay. New York, for example, should get about $6 million in free money under its public welfare program. However, since New York is a high income state and furnishes about 19 percent of the nation's general tax revenues which will finance the program, a rough calculation shows that New York will be providing about $23 million of the $122 million from which the free money is derived.

State Gets $3,601,000 U.S. Funds

After Oct. 1, Pennsylvania can get $3,601,000 in new federal money without putting up any new money of its own under the new aged health care program adopted by Congress.

The new plan makes additional federal funds available for old-age relief programs, and encourages the states to set up new programs to help "medically needy" elderly persons who are not on relief. In some cases, special state legislation is needed to take advantage of the new plan.

It is estimated that about $3,601,000 in state and local funds can be "released" from Pennsylvania's relief programs by the injection of the new federal money. This released money can be used in any way the state sees fit, although Congress hopes it will go into new medically needy programs.

However, even after adopting medically needy plans to the extent anticipated by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, some states are expected to have released funds left over. Pennsylvania stands to get an anticipated "windfall" of $1,150,000 in this manner.

Nasser 'Seen' In UN Center

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — A composite photograph published by a Cairo magazine this week shows the Egyptian conception of the coming U. N. General Assembly.

It shows President Gamal Abdel Nasser at the speaker's rostrum occupying the center stage beneath the U. N. insignia. Flanking him are fellow neutrals, President Tito of Yugoslavia and Prime Minister Nehru of India. On the assembly floor below, President Eisenhower and Premier Nikita Khrushchev are embracing warmly.

This photo describes better than words Nasser's aim as he goes for the first time to a Western country and the first time to the U. N. General Assembly.

Hot Water For Dishes

HOW HOT is the dishwasher you use? It should be at least 140° to remove grease film and kill household germs. If you wash dishes by hand, you can't stand it that hot, even if you wear rubber gloves.

That's one reason women like automatic electric dishwashers. A dishwasher cleanses dishes, pots and pans, and utensils several times in water much hotter than hands can stand, then dries them thoroughly in hot air. Hands are spared, but soil and germs are not.

Home Fires Are Being Reduced

"FIND A WAY," a fire chief once said, "to give us a five-minute jump on most fires and we can control them."

Manufacturers of building materials are finding more and more ways to get that five-minute jump. One is through the use of certain materials that resist fire. The other is through the application of a finish that retards the spread of flames.

Latest in the field of finishes is a fire-retardant paint said to be totally different from the type that forms a spongy insulating layer when subjected to heat. This new paint, intended principally for use on building interiors, is a flat enamel that does not stop fires but slows down the spreading rate. It has passed Underwriters' Laboratories tests as well as those conducted by the United States Navy.

IF YOU are using wood shingles, then building paper is proper. If you are using asbestos shingles, then asphalt-saturated felt is the correct material. No matter which you use, put up only as much as will be covered by the shingles the same day. Otherwise, a storm during the night might ruin the paper or felt before it has the protection of the shingles.

Double Duty Rooms Make This Home

THIS IS indeed a home that will do double duty — living-wise. The vestibule does not cut into your living room space and yet meets all the necessary requirements. Note the proportions of the spacious living room. The fireplace is flanked by beautifully finished bookcases featuring open shelves and lower enclosed cabinets for storage. Directly in back of the living room is a large dining room with French doors to terrace.

There's also a large built-in china cabinet in the dining room. Thus your living-dining section becomes the center portion of your home separating the service and sleeping areas for an ideal floor plan.

The guest room is a complete and private unit that can be adapted to many different needs: As a TV room; a teenager's sanctuary; and aging parent's haven or other uses as they arise. The lavatory near the guest room is so located as to be convenient also to the kitchen and living room.

The hall between the guest room and living room is by no means wasted space — it contains a broom closet, storage closets and a clothes chute. The guest room can be shut off by a sliding door. The kitchen has an unusual wall treatment over the stairs to the basement — featuring 2" wood dowl trellis — providing light over stairs and being in itself an attractive and modern idea.

A planning desk with cabinet built-in overhead will be an ideal spot for mom when she is on the phone or just clearing up bills and checking recipes. A small table can be placed beneath dowl trellis. Sink is beneath rear window. Rear door and basement stairs are accessible from the kitchen.

Master bedroom has terrace access, large wardrobe closet with sliding doors and luxury type dimensions for a room that mom and dad will really appreciate. Front bedroom is also quite large and has a wardrobe closet with sliding doors. Full bath with vanity is between the two bedrooms.

Careful study of the room layout will enable you to visualize the rooms under varying conditions. Laundry and heating facilities are located in the basement which has fruit room under the stairs and roughed in plumbing for a future lavatory.

Exterior has custom detailing — notice the way your eye travels first up and down when viewing siding and wood panes, then the lateral window panes and lines in the brick take the eye in a horizontal sweep for a nice view of a well planned home.

The plan conforms to general FHA, VA and Building Code requirements. The plan contains 1,488 sq. ft., 28,846 cu. ft. Your builder or material supplier can give you the average cost per square or cubic foot in your area.

Complete Building Plan, including Detail Sheet, Material List, and Specification Guide for Des. No. H-361 may be purchased for $9.75 for first set; 2 for $18.25; 3 for $26.25; or 4 for $33.75. Colonial Table Easily Made

THE COLONIAL Hutch Table illustrated above provides ample proof that the do-it-yourself movement was as popular during Colonial times as it is today. With simple hand tools and rough pine boards settlers created designs and built furniture to serve as many different needs as possible.

A visit to Williamsburg, Virginia, provides ample proof of the enduring appeal and versatility of these attractive pieces. Since they are as popular today as in Colonial times, they have withstood the test of time.

The top, measuring 34 inches x 60 inches permits using this table in a kitchen or family room, living or play room. Since a large cabinet beneath the seat provides ample storage for fireplace logs it makes an ideal fireside bench.

When placed in an entrance hall or porch, the cabinet provides a perfect catch-all for overcoats, sporting equipment, games and toys. No matter where it's placed, it serves long and well.

The pattern offered below tells exactly how to build the table in language everyone can understand. All materials required are stock size available in lumber yards everywhere.

Send 50 cents in coin, check or money order for Pattern No. 94, Colonial Hutch table to The Daily Record, P. O. Box 215, Pleasantville, New York. Send additional 35 cents for 64 page catalog illustrating over 300 other build it yourself projects.

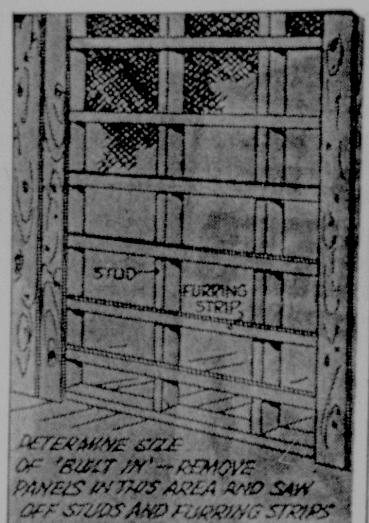

Here's the Answer

QUESTION: What can I put on brass to keep it from getting tarnished? A brass door knocker on our house begins to tarnish about 4 or 5 months after being thoroughly cleaned and polished.

ANSWER: It is probable that the door knocker originally had lacquer on it and that the lacquer has worn off. Give it 3 or 4 coats of clear lacquer and it should last at least 2 years and possibly longer. Be sure the brass is completely clean and dry before applying the lacquer.

wife now has decided they should be painted. Can I apply ordinary exterior paint to the aluminum?

ANSWER: Yes, the aluminum can be painted with regular exterior paint. However, since the structure is outdoors, it is likely that there is some dirt or grime clinging to the metal. Be sure all of it is wiped off before proceeding with the painting.

Victim Of Soft Seti

Dear Abby: I fell in love with a traveling man who makes this territory every six weeks.

He writes the most romantic letters, but all my 14 letters to him came back the told me before he left I should not bother writing him). I don't understand it. He said he wasn't married and lived with his mother. I tried calling him long distance but couldn't locate him. My girlfriend thinks he's a phony. How do I go about finding out for sure?

FAYE

Dear Faye: What company does he sell for? And to whom does he sell in your community? A legitimate salesman leaves a trail of friends wherever he goes. I would guess that our friend has a wife. Next time he comes around "selling" — don't buy anything until he clears up the mystery.

Dear Abby: Last Christmas I bought my kids some electric trains. The kids don't bother with them much any more but I go down to the cellar after work and play with them and enjoy myself. Lately my wife has been looking me in the cellar when I'm down there with the trains. If friends drop by, she tells them I am not home. I told her I would break down the door if she kept this up. She says the catch must slip when the door is closed, but I've tested it and it can't happen. What should I do?

SPIKE

Dear Spike: Take the trains upstairs and set them up on the dining room table, or the living room floor, or anywhere that's handy. Pretty soon your wife will beg you to take the outfit back down to the basement. I'll bet the "catch won't slip" after that.

Dear Abby: I am 16 and I can't think of anything to say when I am alone with a boy, so I get him to kiss me. This fills up the time and he doesn't find out how dumb I am when it comes to making conversation. Somehow I feel this is wrong because I do this with boys I don't even like. But it is easier than trying to think of something to say. Can you help me?

NOTHING TO SAY

Dear Nothing: Read a newspaper or a book and hone up on current events or even sports or politics. Talk about religion or the weather or your ambitions or his. But for goodness sake, DON'T fill in those long pauses with kisses. Talk about something, or you'll be the talk of the town.

Dear Abby: With so many parents having trouble with teenagers I want to tell you my story: Our 16-year-old son got a job as "carry out boy" in a nearby supermarket. With his first week's pay envelope he bought me two things. One, a steam iron I had wanted for years, the other, a package of special gum to get me to quit smoking. I never knew my smoking bothered him, but as soon as he earned his own money he bought the two things that were on his mind.

I chewed this gum and later tried a cigarette. It was horrible. I haven't smoked since.

At 16, instead of starting to smoke, my son wanted to break his mother of the habit. This impressed me so much I will never forget it.

Pocono Forestry Group Plan Annual Dinner-Meet

A MEETING of the officers and directors of the Pocono Forestry Association was held recently with Mrs. Elwood Grant presiding in President Dale Learn's absence.

The group approved the purchase of 1500 "Howdy The Racon," Good Outdoor Manners Book covers. The covers will be distributed to the science students in grades 9 and 10 in the Monroe County Schools.

The 1960 winner of the Conservation Award was also selected but the name will not be released until the plaque is awarded at the annual meeting. The '60 winner is not a member of the Pocono Forestry Association, they announced.

The association's distinctive poster which was prepared by Robert Logan was unveiled at the meeting. Plans for the future are to see copies of this poster widespread through the Pocono Area to spread the importance of "Keeping The Poconos Green and Clean."

Tickets for the annual dinner

ALBANIA is a mountainous and backward country but gives the Soviet Union its sole outpost on the Mediterranean.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Zeman, of Portland, are being congratulated on the birth of a son at the Monroe County General Hospital, East Stroudsburg.

Mrs. Ensley Predmore, the former Virginia Davies, and her twin daughters are now at their home on upper Delaware Ave. after being patients for a week at the Monroe County General Hospital, East Stroudsburg. The babies, who were born Sept. 11, have been named Sandy Lynn and Debby May. Sandy weighed five pounds 12½ ounces and Debby weighed five pounds 15½ ounces. The Predmores have another daughter, Kathy Ann, age 4. Maternal grandmother of the babies is Mrs. G. J. Davies of Portland and paternal grandmother is Mrs. Nettie Predmore of Mount Bethel.

Rally Day will be held in the Portland Presbyterian Church on Sunday at 10 a.m. Rev. Luther Markin will be the speaker.

At the morning worship service of the Portland Presbyterian Church Mrs. Teruko Fisher, wife of Jay Fisher was received into the membership of the church. The Sacrament of Baptism to the two sons and two daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Fisher was administered by Rev. Charles Cummings. The children are Gill and James Fisher. Two rose buds were placed on the altar in honor of Debby Mae and Sandy Lynn, infant twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Ensley Predmore. A single rose was also placed on the altar in honor of Cosimino Bisanti Jr., infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Cosimino Bisanti, of Oxford, N. J. Mrs. Bisanti is the former Betty Thomas of Town.

Thirty-four persons from Mount Bethel, Columbia, N. J. and Portland spent Saturday in New York City and attended the Ice-capade at Madison Square Garden. They also enjoyed a boat trip around Manhattan Island. The trip was sponsored by the Woman's Club of Portland.

What medium do teen-agers rate "most practical"?

RADIO?

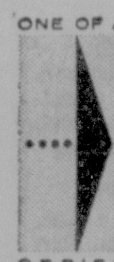

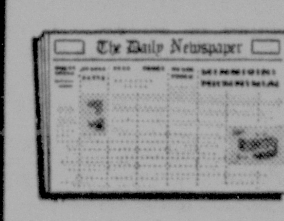

TELEVISION?

MAGAZINES?

THE DAILY NEWSPAPER?

ONE OF A SERIES

ANSWER: THE DAILY NEWSPAPER. In a recent study of teens made by Eugene Gilbert & Co., the daily newspaper was shown to be a big influence on their living and spending habits. When asked which medium they considered the most practical, 54% said it was the daily newspaper, while only 17% named TV. To advertisers who want to get their share of the $9 billion teen market, we say, "Tell it to the teens in the daily newspaper!"

The Daily Record

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

Some people are moved by noble sentiments expressed in rolling phrases. But to me, it is to the small things that my heart quickens.

Certainly big words like community service, responsibility, service to others, trustworthiness are all words which could be applied with justice to the Girl Scouts who served as volunteers at the hospital this summer.

But what really drove home the extent of their sacrifice was a casual phrase Audrey Cohen slipped in while she was telling me about the tea in their honor. "The girls decided to wear their full uniforms while on duty," she said, "and they even decided to wear stockings."

When teen-agers voluntarily wear stockings through the heat of the summer you can measure the extent of the meanings they gave to the big words. Have you ever watched a teen-ager in her first pair of silk stockings?

She walks stiff-legged as a colt, afraid to bend her knees. She suffers the torments of a strait-jacket combined with a hot box. She ruins her budget with snagged runs, and can't wait to get into the socks and sneakers which to her spell fleetness and freedom.

When a woman gives up a bridge game for a committee meeting; when a boy puts on a white shirt with a tie, and when a young girl wears stockings — voluntarily with nobody making them — then I'm convinced that they are dedicated people, convinced of the importance of the task they have agreed to do.

Tea Honors Senior Scouts Who Served As Girl Scout Aids At General Hospital

Twelve Senior Scouts, day in and day out, seven days a week throughout the whole summer have served as volunteers at the General Hospital. As Girl Scout Hospital Aides, they worked under the supervision of the Red Cross Gray Ladies during all visiting hours, both afternoon and night.

Their duties included running errands, amusing children in the children's wing, shopping for patients, and generally making themselves useful.

Tribute to their usefulness and to their responsible service was paid to them yesterday at a tea held at the home of Mrs. Harold Ingraham, chairman of the Gray Ladies.

"Not once during the summer did the Girl Scouts miss having a girl present during the specified hours," she pointed out, adding that the scheduling of hours had been taken care of by the Girl Scouts themselves.

The Girl Scouts themselves had words of appreciation for the satisfaction they had achieved from their volunteer services. Several of them reported that the GEMS program, provided by the Women's Aux. to the Medical Society, last winter, had given them good training particularly for service in the children's ward.

As a matter of fact, the girls were so enthusiastic over the opportunity for service that they have requested that the program, originally scheduled to end with the beginning of school, be extended for a trial period of one month.

If possible, they would like to continue their service in after-school visiting hours throughout the winter.

Once started, you can't stop them doing good deeds. Mrs. Clifford Kintner was Girl Scout advisor to the group assisted by Mrs. Richard Altomese, Mrs. J. L. Cohen, president of the Monroe County Girl Scout Council, was also a guest at the tea given by Mrs. Ingraham, who was assisted by Mrs. Russell Harmon of the Gray Ladies Service.

Stroud High Parents Catch Up On Changes In School

Members of the Stroud Union High School Parent - Teachers Assn. were briefed on "Changes In and Around School" at their meeting on Monday night.

Of the 3,012 students in the school district with 129 teachers and administrators, 1,291 students are in the Junior-Senior High School, district superintendent Earl Groner told the parents.

"The individual student is our business," he told the parents, explaining the diversified program offered in the school. Parents, with teachers and administrators, can help the school by interesting the community in the school, and its goals and activities.

Samuel O. Wells, assistant principal explained the transportation and attendance problems. Explaining the state laws on attendance, he also stressed the fact that poor marks and early drop-outs are closely associated with poor attendance. He also outlined the bus schedules and the state laws on student behavior on buses.

Raymond Serfass, guidance director, who is assisted part time by Mrs. Joyce Murray and Samuel Wells, explained the scope of the guidance program in the school.

Seventh - graders - to be briefed on what to expect both in sixth grade and before school starts in the fall, he explained.

He also explained the various testing programs in use. Intelligence tests, showing the capacity of student for learning, are given in the 7, 9 and 11 grades; aptitude tests in algebra and language is given in the eighth grade; occupational tests in 9 and 11 grades to find field of interest.

Vocational preference tests are given in the 8 and 11 grades; national achievement tests in the 8 grade.

Personality tests are given in individual cases and pre-scholastic aptitude tests are given to Juniors in preparation for the college entrance exams.

Group guidance is featured in the eighth grade, dividing the time between personality adjustment, vocations, and courses to be selected for ninth grade.

For high school juniors and seniors, vocational and college counseling is given in individual conferences.

"College admissions are getting tougher, more complicated and more expensive," he warned the parents urging that if their children want to go to college, they

The Wyckoff Shopper

"the friendly store" A.B. Wyckoff
STROUDSBURG, PA.

My friend, Marcia Clapp, has done it again! And while it should be no surprise to anyone who knows Marcia's reputation as a sculptress, there are any number of persons who look at our Wyckoff window display these days and say, "Isn't that wonderful! Did MARCIA really do that?"

The object of their attention is a bronze portrait bust of David Cogan, one of the youngest and most dynamic producers in the American theatre today. Last year Mr. Cogan gave theatregoers "Raisin in the Sun". Right now he is in the midst of reading "The Yellow Leaf" for its Broadway unveiling. Owner of the Biltmore Theatre, this interesting young man is well on his way to writing an exciting new chapter in the history of dramatic art in our country.

Marcia had told me about the portrait she was commissioned to do before the work actually began. At our occasional "hi and goodbye" meetings since then, she had snatched a few moments to tell me how much she was enjoying the experience. I gathered she was having a wonderful time capturing the ever-changing expressions of a man who was constantly being called upon—in person and by telephone—by stimulating people from all branches of the theatrical world, and whose sessions with Marcia were constantly pressured by the innumerable demands of his profession.

The finished head is one that captures, I think, both character and personality of this young man. Without ever having met him, I would guess that David Cogan is both a hard-headed business man and a soft-hearted artist; that he is a person of many moods, capable of looking stern, but more frequently looking friendly and rather amused. Perhaps I am wrong. Maybe he is not like this at all... but I would imagine, from Marcia's portrait in bronze, that he is vital, energetic, and knows only too well just how he acquired the position he holds in the theatre today.

Marcia tells me that at no time did Mr. Cogan actually pose for her. She did not take a cast of his features... rather, she molded in clay to the measurements and observations of her own eye. This may account for the delineation of character she was able to inject into the completed work. We actually see Mr. Cogan, not with mere photographic precision, but through the eyes of one who knows him, has observed him among his friends and associates, and who has analyzed him as a human being.

After Marcia's work was done—about seven hours of it having taken place in Mr. Cogan's office at the Empire State Building—the plaster mold was taken to a foundry in New Jersey, cast in bronze, and then, with heat and acid, given the patina that through the years will mellow into the soft, deep golden tones which will cast their own lights and shadows, enriching the original work of art. The head weighs about 25 pounds, Marcia tells me, and is mounted upon a sleek, marblelike green stone mined in Virginia.

During many of her visits to New York, Marcia was painstakingly observed going to and from her sittings, and at work in Mr. Cogan's office, by a Life photographer. One of my favorite pictures, also in the Wyckoff window, shows a girl passerby studying Marcia with a slight frown—a look of puzzlement. After all, why not? How many women does one see on a busy city street these days, carrying men's heads in their arms? But as I've said before, with Marcia anything is possible... and highly probable.

Millersville Game Poorly Organized

THE EAST STROUDSBURG State College-Millersville game at Millersville Saturday, was only a step above sandlot football — in organization, not in the calibre of play.

Both teams played 60 minutes (as the saying goes and about 63 minutes as the clock went) of solid football. But a near riot that ended the game capped an organizational set-up that must be improved, either by the individual schools or the Pennsylvania State College Conference (PSCC) before State College football can command respect.

While the PSCC games do not draw big enough crowds to provide finances for elaborate football stadium set-ups, certain safety measures must be taken to protect the crowd, officials and players and adequate and trained people must be used to run the game, both on and off the field.

Students should not be used for the public address system or as official timers. If students are used to run the scoreboard, the official time should be kept by the back judge.

A Five Man Team May Be Necessary

Major colleges use a five-man officiating team with the fifth official on the sidelines, as a clock-operator. Of course it costs much more for a fifth official than it does for students, who in many cases are willing to work for free. But the gratis help is not always trained for the job, as was the case of the Millersville clock operator, who was designated as the official timer, although he had never timed a football game or knew the procedure.

The student was under the impression that he was not the official timer and the public address system announced several times during the game, that the time was being kept by the officials.

The situation was compounded at the end of the first quarter, when the scoreboard clock showed that the quarter had ended but East Stroudsburg ran three more plays before officials decided the quarter had ended. The same thing happened at the end of the third period. Since the scoreboard clock had no horn to indicate that play was over and several plays were run after the quarter had ended, it appeared that the officials were keeping time.

But after the game, the officials said the scoreboard was the official time and it was unfortunate that the extra-plays were allowed.

Riot Should Not Have Happened

The topper was the riot, which never should have taken place. The "PA" man, egged on by several students in the press box, began leading cheers over the loud speaker, near the end of the game. With the home crowd keyed up, the loud speaker bit may have been all that was needed to light the fuse.

On the last play of the game Millersville punted to East Stroudsburg halfback Frank Lupin, with about 10 seconds left on the clock. Lupin dashed out of bounds to stop the clock and was pushed by a Millersville lineman as he crossed the out-of-bounds line. Lupin threw the football down and started towards the Warrior buddle. But the Millersville player began swinging and Lupin punched back. Both benches emptied and so did a large portion of the stands.

The melee lasted for about five-minutes and was stopped by the players. There was not a policeman, either on duty or hired by the school, inside the stadium when the fight broke out.

Several students were involved in the fist swinging portion of the affair. While the players are protected by several hundred dollars of equipment including a face guard, the students have no protection.

It costs a great deal of money for schools to support a football program and a great deal more to run one properly but schools that ramp on what appear to be minor points, such as police protection and competent officials are in for trouble and the poorly run PSCC cannot afford any more trouble.

Ten Pennsylvania Spartans

Old Home Week For Duffy And MSU Saturday At Pitt

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—It will be old home week for coach Duffy Daugherty and some of his top players when the Spartans visit Pittsburgh Saturday for their football opener.

Daugherty, born in Enicigh, Pa., and raised in Barnesboro, Pa., long has been mining the Pennsylvania prep schools for some of his best football talent.

There are 10 imports from Pennsylvania on the Spartan roster this season, down somewhat from recent years when Daugherty could have fielded a full team from his home state.

Philly Back At least five of the Pennsylvania players are sure to see action. Herb Adderley, offensive right halfback and leading ground-gainer for MSU last season, is from Philadelphia. Adderley missed some of the early workouts because of a pulled back muscle but was running well in scrimmage again last week.

Leroy Loudermilk, the No. 2 quarterback, is from Wilkesburg and Ron Hatcher, the starting fullback, is from Carnegie. Two linemen from Pennsylvania, guard George Azar of Johnstown and end Dick Oxendine of Alliquippa, are slated for relief roles.

Other Pennsylvania products on the Spartan squad, all sophomores, are end Tom Jordan, Bethlehem; Tackle Tom Kaibas, Farrell; guard Barry Madill, Indiana; fullback Herb Paterra, Glassport; and tackle Don Richmond, Washington.

Daugherty uses the greatest respect when speaking of the Pittsburgh Panthers.

Strongest Foe "Pittsburgh stacks up as the strongest opening foe we've faced since I've been head coach," said Daugherty, who is starting his seventh season as MSU football coach. "We'll have to be at our absolute best to contain the club Johnny Michelson has put together this year."

Michigan State should be improved this year over the team that had a 5-4 record last season. Starting in the backfield with Adderley and Hatcher will be right half Gary Ballman, a junior who rated third in rushing last fall. No. 1 quarterback is Tommy Wilson, a senior who came up through the ranks in Daugherty's under-study system.

Michigan State has a wealth of fast backs and tall ends this season. The only weak spot material-wise is the interior line, where coaches are plugging the gaps with some big sophomores.

Daugherty is fielding separate offensive and defensive elevens this season. A third unit goes in to spell the two starting elevens.

Daugherty uses what he calls a multiple offense attack with the emphasis on the double wing and the winged-T.

The Spartans are due to arrive by chartered plane at Pittsburgh Friday. Pitt lost its season opener to UCLA 8-7.

Sam Jones Wins 17th

CHICAGO (AP) — Sam Jones, winning his 17th game, scattered five hits Tuesday to give the San Francisco Giants a sweep of a three-game series against the Chicago Cubs via a 5-2 payoff.

The Giants wrapped up their conquest with a three-run fourth. After Willie Kirkland singled for the first run, third baseman Jimmy Davenport tripled for the next two.

This was more than enough to saddle starter Dick Ellsworth with his fifth consecutive loss — No. 13 among 19 decisions thus far.

In 11th Inning

Yanks Beat Nats 2-1 On Earl Battey's Error

NEW YORK (AP) — A bases-loaded error by catcher Earl Battey in the 11th inning gave New York a 2-1 decision over Washington Tuesday night and retained the Yankees' four-game lead over Baltimore in the American League race.

It was the Yankees' fifth straight success, ninth in 11 games, and reduced the magic number to six over Baltimore and Chicago. The Orioles broke a tie for second by beating Boston 4-3 while the White Sox were idle.

Blew Lead The Yankees, who blew a 1-0 lead in the ninth when the Senators scored on a wild pitch, finally put it away when Bill Skowron, back after missing a game because of injury, opened the 11th with his third hit, a single. After a sacrifice by Ken Hunt, pinch-hitter Yogi Berra was walked intentionally, and Gil McDougald followed with a walk that loaded the bases.

Tony Kubek then grounded to third and pinch runner Joe Demaestri scooted across as Harmon Killebrew's throw home popped out of Battey's glove.

Don Lee, fourth Washington pitcher was the loser for an 8-6 record. Half of his losses have been to the Yankees.

Ell Grba, pitching only the 11th for the Yankees, who also faced four pitchers, was the winner for a 5-4 record.

The loss left the Senators in a fourth place tie with Cleveland.

Ted Adds 'IF' To Retiring

BALTIMORE (AP) — Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox made his next-to-last scheduled appearance as a player in Baltimore Tuesday night. Then he started speculation anew.

"Only one possibly could make me change my mind about playing next year." The 42-year-old "Splendid Splinter" let the sentence die.

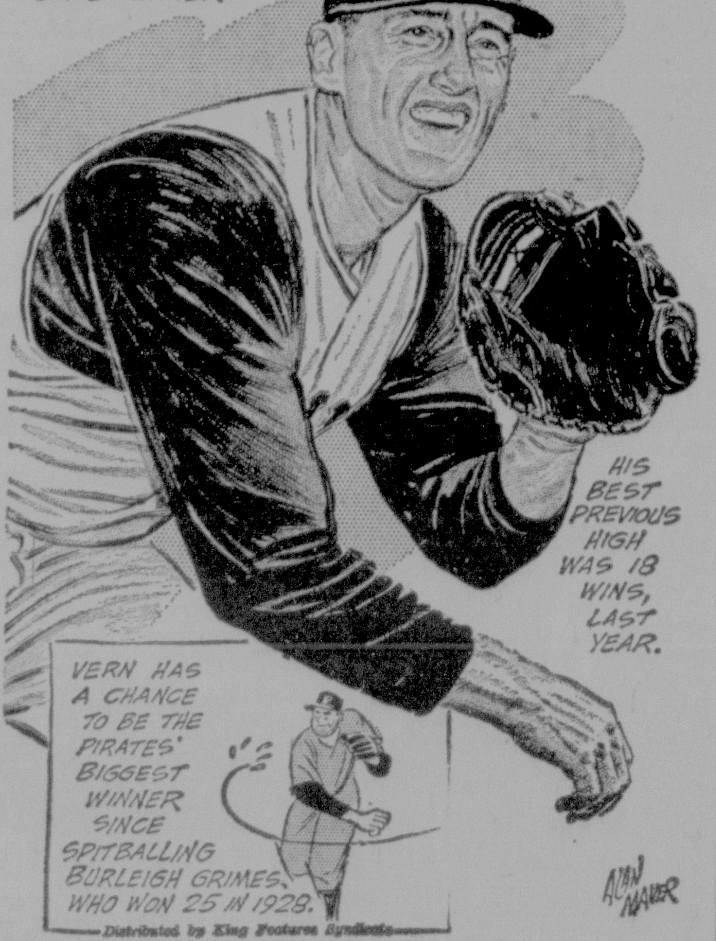

Quickly he added: "NO. Ignore what I just said. I'm gonna quit at the end of the season. That's final. There are no contingencies. This is it. I've had it as a player."

He refused under further questioning to reveal what prompted him to even mention the "possibility" of making it 19 full seasons.

Albert Hummel, from Bangor, a novice lightweight is tentatively booked which is being arranged by Sceranton's Friends of Boxing.

Yakencheck and Hummel will give the matches an agriculture flavor. Both boys work on farms.

Opponents have not been named for either fighter and Yakencheck, who has won his only three fights, two by knockouts, will probably face a more experienced heavyweight.

Former Cavalier

Yakencheck, a former guard on the East Stroudsburg High School football team, began boxing last winter. He won his first bout on a knockout in five seconds of the first round. His second outing was a TKO win and he won on a decision in his last go in August.

Tickets for the outdoor production are being sold at Lloyd's Sporting Goods, Summa's Barber Shop, Rudy's Grill, Dunn's Tavern, Lackawanna Hotel, CLU Club and Elks Club, in East Stroudsburg and Quick's Restaurant and Town Tavern, Stroudsburg. Also, Otto's Tavern and Schwartz Barber Shop, Portland and Diorio Bros., Roanoke.

Thompson Fails On Flats Again

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah (AP)—Mickey Thompson, El Monte, Calif., America's fastest auto driver, failed to set a new world record in two runs on the salt flats of western Utah Tuesday. He took his car back to nearby Wendover for adjustments.

He reached a disappointing 377.99 miles per hour on his first run through the measured mile. On his second run mechanical difficulties caused him to cut his power and he reached an estimated speed of only about 368 m.p.h.

The 378 m.p.h. reached on his first run was far below the 394.1 m.p.h. set in 1947 by the late John Cobb of England meant he would have to exceed 410 m.p.h. on the second run in order to set a record.

Cards Squeak By

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Charley James delivered a bases-loaded, two-out pinch single in the ninth inning, giving the St. Louis Cardinals a come-from-behind 3-2 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers Tuesday night.

The Cards triumph, coupled with a double-header sweep for Pittsburgh, left the league-leading Pirates' edge over the Redbirds at six games.

BRITE STAR—Ed Becker, who is making a strong bid for Little All-America honors at East Stroudsburg State College, is the first Brite Star of the Week for the 1960 season. The 6-3, 215-pound end from Quakertown led the Warriors in tackles against Millersville Saturday and threw Marauder backs for six losses, totaling 21-yards. Becker also blocked a field goal attempt and made a spectacular one-handed catch of a pass for an 11-yard gain.

Eagles' Top Pass Catchers Didn't Always Like Aerials

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pete Retzlaff and Tommy McDonald of the Philadelphia Eagles admit they once showed disdain for the football weapon that has become their bread and butter — the forward pass.

Retzlaff set four ball-carrying records of South Dakota State as a collegian. He remembers catching one pass in college, a screen maneuver that lost 2 yards.

McDonald, an All-America at Oklahoma in 1956, was renowned as a fast halfback who could run the hundred in 0.9. He won the Maxwell Club Award as outstanding college player of 1956, and looked forward to a pro career as a running halfback.

He did catch passes at Oklahoma but never took the air seriously. "Specializing in pass receiving was the furthest thing from my mind," McDonald asserts. "But I'm happy with the way things worked out."

The 29-year-old Retzlaff was the Detroit Lion's 22nd draft choice at the 1953 National Football League player selection meeting. He entered the service after graduation from South Dakota State, finally reporting to the Lions in 1956.

Ole Miss Tops Syracuse In Season's First Poll

MISSISSIPPI and Syracuse are off to an early head start in the race for the year's college football honors.

The first weekly poll of The Associated Press Tuesday showed the Mississippians rated the top team in the country by the thinnest of margins over the 1959 champion, Syracuse.

The Deep South powerhouse gained its quick advantage through a 42-0 rout of Houston in its opening game. Syracuse, idle last week, gets a chance to impress the experts in its opener with Boston University Saturday.

Pre-Season Choices These two teams, both generously endowed with the talent which carried them to successful campaigns last year, are the prime pre-season favorites for the national title.

A special tribunal, representing all sections of the country, gave Mississippi and Syracuse 22 first-place votes each but the South-erners scored more points on the basis of ten for a first place vote, nine for second and so forth. Forty-eight members comprise the AP panel.

The top 20 teams (with first place votes in parentheses):

Mississippi (22) 434
Syracuse (22) 401
Washington (3) 378
Illinois 214
Alabama 182
Michigan State 149
Kansas 132
UCLA 78

Birds Win On Brooks' Bloop Hit

BALTIMORE (AP) — An unintentional single off the bat of Brooks Robinson knocked in the winning run in the eighth inning for the Baltimore Orioles in a 4-3 victory Tuesday over the Boston Red Sox.

The triumph kept a spark glowing in the American League pennant hopes of the Orioles.

Robinson didn't even see his single that drove in Jim Busby from third base with the run that broke a 3-3 tie.

Robinson was ducking away from an inside pitch from Boston pitcher Mike Fornieles who had just relieved Tom Brewer. The ball hit Robinson's bat and bloomed over first baseman Vic Wertz' head into right field.

Billy Hoelt gained credit for the victory, his second against one loss, by pitching to only one batter in the eighth inning.

Mt. Pocono Drive Wins 2 Trophies

JANET Possinger of Mt. Pocono won two trophies at the Springtown Hill Climb held Saturday in Springtown.

Miss Possinger, driving her Triumph TR-3, placed second in the Ladies Class and third in the 1960 class. Her time was 67.5 seconds over the 1.1 mile hill.

Alex Coles of Shawnee drove his Austin Healey 3000 to a 68.2 second clocking.

Fastest time of the day was recorded by Bill Rutan of Essex, Conn. in a Volkswagon Special. His 57 second time broke the hill record set two years ago by Roger Penske. Mr. Rutan holds the record time on the Pocono Hill in Bushkill.

HARRY WILLIAMS, who spent a week at the home of his sister, Miss Agnes Williams, at Slatedale, returned to his home at Richmond, Va., on Tuesday. On Sunday Mr. Williams and Miss Williams were dinner guests of Mr. Williams' son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Williams and son Bobbie at Mount Bethel Rd.

The United States Census Bureau has released the preliminary population count of Portland. In 1960 Portland's population was 581 against the 1950 count of 551. Upper Mount Bethel Township has a population of 2945 in 1960 and in 1950 the number was 2613.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Shrenk and daughter, Marjorie, of Philadelphia, were weekend guests of Mrs. Shrenk's mother, Mrs. Irvin Henry.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Portland Fire Co. will hold its September meeting on Monday at 8 p.m. in the fire hall. The meeting was scheduled for Sept. 12 but changed due to the bad weather.

Jackie Transue, of Gambier, Ohio, who spent the summer with his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Transue, left for New York on Wednesday where he boarded the Queen Mary for Paris, France. He will spend the next year in France and attend the University of Paris. His parents, Dr. and Mrs. William Transue, and their youngest son, John, of Gambier, went to Europe early last Summer and they too will stay the year.

Dr. Evelyn Davies left for Bloomington, Ind., where she will resume her duties as professor at the University of Indiana. Dr. Davies spent the Summer vacation with her mother, Mrs. G. J. Davies, at the home of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Ensley Predmore.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Grendler, of Ridgewood, N. J., spent the weekend with Mrs. Grendler's mother, Mrs. G. J. Davies, at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ensley Predmore.

Mr. and Mrs. William Sprich of Washington, N. J., and Mrs. Herbert Vanderberg of Stratford, Conn., spent Sunday with Mrs. E. Randall Carpenter.

A marriage license has been issued to William C. Graffin of Portland and Doris Trimmer of Mount Bethel.

The Portland and Mount Bethel Republican Club will hold a dinner meeting on Monday, Sept. 26 at 7:30 p.m. at Tuscarora Inn. All members and friends are urged to attend this meeting.

Cashier 'Held Up' For Meeting

NEWFOUNDLAND—Word that C. Alton Edwards, cashier at the bank in Newfoundland, was "held up" and could not make the Monday night meeting of the Rotary Club, where he was program chairman of the evening, caused some consternation among the members.

Edwards, a year ago, was a victim of a real holdup at his bank. However, it was noted that the chairman was merely delayed, and the dinner meeting went on without a program.

During the business session at which Claude Smith presided, Elmer Becker reported on a successful band concert sponsored by the Rotary Club for the benefit of the community service fund. The group discussed last week's clam bake and considered having another such event to which the ladies would be invited.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.
